About the Author A Vermont native raised in the resort community of Stowe, Vermont, at twenty-three Mr. Charbonneau traveled to Quito, Ecuador, and entered a casino for the first time in his life. At the blackjack table he met and fell in love with a young Ecuadorian woman, within months they were married. After nearly thirty years or marriage the couple divorced. Mr. Charbonneau is the proud parent of five children. As a father of five living in Las Vegas for decades, frugality was never an option, it was a necessity! Learning how to stretch a budget in order to support and entertain a large family on limited resources in a resort community provided Mr. Charbonneau with the skills and knowledge for his latest undertaking . . . the Las Vegas Travel Guide Series. Mr. Charbonneau's knowledge of hotel operations came from years of employment at the front desk and in reservations. As a tourist he's stayed at over thirty Las Vegas valley casino/hotels! As a consumer his philosophy is to avoid hotels with a resort fee, unless he is staying on a complimentary with the resort fee waived (not all Vegas hotels waive the resort fee on a comp); staying on a buy-one get-one free offer (where the resort fee is waived on free nights); or when using a coupon/reward for a free night with payment of the resort fee. A recent Vegas visit for example, straddled June and July 2016 for fifteen hotel nights. Twelve nights were comps (resort fees waived), two nights were free on a reward (required payment of resort fees) and one night was a promotional rate at a property with no resort fees that included a food credit. His total hotel cost was a mere $95 plus tax which was offset by $45 in Free Slot Play and $60 in Food Beverage Credits! Mr. Charbonneau's knowledge of casino operations came from working in the Slot Departments of two major casinos, from entry level to Slot Shift Manager. He also worked on the production line at International Game Technology (IGT) refurbishing and assembling Slot Video Poker machines. As a consumer he has experienced one form of gambling or another in three countries and four states. Years ago, and for a period of four years, he earned a living (and comps) playing low limit Video Poker machines!
