A Timeless Book That Anyone Who Loves Glacier Should Own By Iain Smith This book takes the reader to the wildest parts of Glacier that very few of us get to visit. The pictures are amazing and have motivated me to explore more of Glacier's back country. Even though many of the pictures were taken in the '90's the areas Landon describes are exactly the same today as when he visited. It's a timeless guide to Glacier's wildest areas. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Glacier Panorama By Mark Glacier Panorama America has many awesome and majestic national parks, and writer and photographer Will Landon really knows how to capture the experience and feeling of being at one of them - Montana's Glacier National Park. This book is filled with dozens of beautiful and stunning panoramic pictures, and each and every page is remarkable. It makes me want to go drive and see it for myself! Glacier Panorama is truly an extraordinary book.

In words and images, writer and photographer Will Landon of Bellevue, Washington, captures the majesty and diversity of Montana's Glacier National Park. In sweeping panoramas of up to 360 degrees, counterpointed by intimate close-ups and highlighted segments of a grand scene, Landon explores the vast scope of the northernmost national park in the continental United States. This is Glacier Panorama, photographed over a period of twenty-two years, from 1968 to 1990. A photographer adept at handling the wide variety of cameras needed to convey the diversity of Glacier's natural beauty, Landon has included scenes familiar to those who only have time to drive through the park or take short day hikes, as well as images of many of the remote and ruggedly beautiful areas few visitors ever see. Accompanying Landon's photographs are written impressions from his Glacier journals, and the names of the many magnificent peaks he has captured on film. Glacier Panorama is an extraordinary book, destined to be a classic of its kind.

About the Author Will Landon traveled to Glacier National Park for the first time in 1967 with his family. He returned the next year, and continues to visit the park nearly every year, camera in hand.
