To be in Grand Canyon National Park is to confront a spectacular chasm. The measure of your encounter is directly proportional to the amount of time spent in the presence of these "temples". It seems a great injustice to tarry but briefly at a turnout along the East or West Rim Drive. This Park is much, much more than just a magnificent river-cut canyon. Its soul and spirit is a delicate arrangement of wildlife, trees, wildflowers, water, geology and human history carefully blended to create nirvana.

About the Author Stewart Aitchison has been exploring, studying, and writing about the Grand Canyon region for almost forty years. When not writing, he escorts natural history trips on the Colorado Plateau, Southeast Alaska, and Mexico's Baja Peninsula. He makes his home in Flagstaff, Arizona with his wife Ann and daughter Kate.
