The Most Wonderful Dog Ever!By A CustomerI am not especially a dog lover, but this amazing story of life in Asia with a wonderful Canadian couple and their dog Harry, written in the voice of the beloved pooch himself, is a revelation. Anthropomorphism has never been so charming. Exotic locales enhance this insightful depiction of both human and canine behaviour and love. I cried! Now of course, I must get a puppy.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Delightful tales of a couple's love for their petsBy Michelle BrazeauDelightful tales of a couple's love for their pets... their generosity and selflessness.It is a humorous account of adaptation in a strange land and a determination to find beauty and happiness.0 of 2 people found the following review helpful. One StarBy robert bagshawI have already sent it.

When he was nine months old, Golden Retriever Harry Howard boarded a 747 in Canada bound for Hong Kong. This marked the beginning of his life as an expat, frequent-flyer, cross-culture dog. More than ten years and five countries later, Harry shares his story, recounting his unforgettable adventures in vivid detail. With a little help from his mom, Julie, he reflects on the places he lives, the people he meets, and the cultures and customs he discovers as he moves from Hong Kong to Hanoi, Thailand, Ho Chi Minh City, and Cambodia. This unique memoir based on actual events that happened during the course of Harry's lifetime, is told with humor, sensitivity, and trademark Golden effervescence, offering invaluable insight into life abroad, especially as an expat pup. While trying to make sense of the ever-changing world around him, Harry provides his own interpretation regarding a silent sickness, he has observed through his own Humans and other expat Humans behavior, during his travels.a.k.a culture shock. For the millions of wary travelers and expats who leave their countries every year to become strangers in a strange land, Harry's calm, even-pawed advice could well serve as a guide to make their transitions to new and often challenging environments, much smoother.

About the AuthorJulie Howard is the coauthor, along with Harry, of Harry Howard: Memoirs of an Expat, Frequent-Flyer, Cross-Culture Golden Retriever. For the past twenty-eight years she has lived and worked in Asia beginning in Tokyo and subsequently moving to Hong Kong, Hanoi, Chiangmai, Ho Chi Minh City, Phnom Penh, and Bangkok where she currently resides with her husband, Michael, and their two Golden Retrievers, Mali and Sammy in an oasis in the midst of the madness. She has been a librarian, primary through middle school teacher, trainer and recruiter, exporter of Asian furniture, presenter of ESL programs for a variety of corporate clients, fitness instructor, and bed-and-breakfast operator. She is an international marathon runner five times over and has trekked in Nepal and Bhutan.
