John Howard : Road Warriors: Turning Business Travel into Exciting Adventures! before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Road Warriors: Turning Business Travel into Exciting Adventures!:

0 of 1 people found the following review helpful. an adventurous lifestyle I should pursueBy Jane W.It is breathtaking to read many of the adventurous stories in this book. The picutres are pretty cool and I like the pages printed in old yellow color.It is also a huge encouragement for me to see a real-life businessman who succeed in touring all US when he was so young. Although I do believe life is worth exploring, I seldom took steps out of my comfort zone or busy schedule. But now I want to give a try to the corner of US as well!1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. All in all great pictures. Who cares about the wordsBy D. ThompsonI purchased this book and wow! What breath taking pictures. This guy traveled to all fifty states and has a million airline miles and hats off to him. I didn't see the grammar issues so I must have a new version. The only reference to women was a joke and that they might sue off "brotherly love" motto from the City of Philedelphia. All in all great pictures. Who cares about the words.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Shockingly poorly editedBy WThis book is possibly the worst I have ever read. The spelling, grammar and editing is terrible. This could be forgiven if it weren't for the author's disturbing attitude towards women. Avoid unless you want something to pick apart for the sake of it.

Adventure is defined by Merriam Webster's Dictionary as "an exciting or remarkable experience" Coupled with John's high desire to achieve, and his high octane of energy, this adventure book will guide you through traveling to each of the fifty states to embark on your very own exciting or remarkable experiences. A book which illustrates the many action packed tourists sites across this great nation to etch memories that will last a life time with friend's family and business colleagues. John is a highly experienced traveler for corporate America (a true road warrior), having sojourned to all fifty states and a score of countries all by the age of thirty-five. John lives an adventure outside of his career commitments while on business travel for high-end clients in the accounting and private franchising fields. It is his intent to place each of us in the pilot's seat of an adventurous career path of our own whether we travel for work or not. This book will inspire each of us to make that leap of faith in deciding to add some fun and excitement in our lives managing around our hectic career and family commitments. This is also a great read for busy moms or dads in which addresses some important issues like finances and time commitments. His recipe for living-out an adventure is broken down into synced chapters outlining one career adventure after another. To highlight a few are among places like Mount Rushmore, Statue of Liberty, Mendenhall Glacier, the Golden Gate Bridge, Grand Canyon, the Smithsonian Institute, Hawaii, Bryce Canyon, Plymouth Rock, Hearst Castle, Stone Mountain, Scuba Diving, and Sky Diving! This book sets the stage for anyone, any family, or any corporate team, to obtain an exciting and remarkable experience, wherever that may lead!

About the Author John Howard is a true road warrior when it comes to business travel. He has traversed all fifty states in the United States of America and has sojourned to five continents for the business sectors of accounting software and private franchising.
