Sharlene Minshall : RVing North America : Silver, Single Solo before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised RVing North America : Silver, Single Solo:

This 288 page book criss-crosses North America from East to West and North to South and back again. The adventures of this silver gypsy take you through old Mexico, around the lower 48, and into Canada and Alaska. Traveling solo brings its own kind of adventure, both with mechanical situations and meeting people along the way. Maps at the beginning of each chapter show you where the Sprinter motorhome and its solo driver have gone. This isn't a travelogue as such but it will give you ideas of where to go and what to do. It will give you the straight scoop on what kind of life a full-time RVer lives. Minshall takes you to church on Sunday, ultra-light flying over the Quartzsite desert, and camping overnight on a WWII bunker in Hawaii. The book is written humorously and with surprises in every chapter.

From the Publisher "Sharlene has driven...from Mexico to Alaska and from the east to the west coast. Her experiences are unparalleled and she writes in a warm, light-hearted style, sprinkled with a liberal dose of humor, that makes the reader want to follow her from one adventure to the next. The author has made friends throughout the continent and her love for people shines through her writing. ...changed her career to become a writer, photographer and public speaker. Yes, she is still single and this aptly titled book serves as an encouragement to others to shed their fears and hesitations and to set out in pursuit of their own dreams, whatever they might be. This book serves as an inspiration to all, not just the RVer, to 'live life to the fullest,' no matter what circumstances you find yourself in." From the Author As I wrote RVer North America, I experienced each day all over again and realized once again how very fortunate I am to have the freedom to travel at the "will of my whim." From the desert country of the southwest to the lighthouses of the northeast; from the mangrove swamps of the southeast to the far reaches of the northwest; the people I've met have been so interesting, and the adventures unparalleled. People often ask me if I get lonely. There is a big difference between being alone and being lonely. I am almost always alone but seldom lonely. Sharing my adventures and misadventures with readers gives me great satisfaction and joy. I hope you'll enjoy treading in my tiretracks across North America. God Bless. From the Back Cover " 'Charlie,' widowed since 1982, has driven 150,000 miles pursuing her dream to see North America. RVer North America, Silver Single, and Solo will take the arm-chair explorer on an unparalleled adventure from the Floating Gardens at Xochimilco in old Mexico to the town of McCarthy, deep in the Wrangell-St. Elias National Park in Alaska to the Okefenokee Swamp in Georgia. From Cape Breton Island in Nova Scotia to an RV barge trip on the Mississippi River to Big Bend National Park, you'll see North America through the eyes of this daring silver-haired gypsy. RVer North America, Silver Single, and Solo will give those thinking of a career change something to think about. Sharlene Minshall started a new career of writing, photography, and public speaking when she began full-time RVer at the age of forty-nine. RVer North America, Silver, Single, and Solo may encourage you to retire and follow in 'Charlie's' tire tracks. Maybe, just maybe you'll get ideas on where to go and how to do it. RVer North America, Silver, Single, and Solo may be an inspiration to get going again after a death or divorce. This book carries a positive message of living life to the fullest. This book begins in 1989, a continuation of In Pursuit of a Dream."
