Todo el paisaje de mi infancia ha desaparecido . . . Edgardo Rodríguez Juli is an expert and lyrical guide to the history, inhabitants, and culture of his native city of San Juan, recalling scenes from his childhood while chronicling the social and physical changes in the city. Though superhighways have replaced the winding lanes and Puerto Ricans remain socially and politically divided, Rodriguez Juli also evokes picturesque imagery and the melancholy sweetness of remembrance as he leads readers through his Ciudad Sonada, his city of dreams.

About the Author Acclaimed Puerto Rican novelist Edgardo Rodriguez Julia is the recipient of a Guggenheim Fellowship and is professor of literature at the University of Puerto Rico. He has published eleven works of fiction. Introduction by Antonio Skarmeta, author of Il Postino.
