Found this to be a critical extra level of detail beyond what is in Benchmark or similar "recreation" maps. Those are good for 90% of driving around, but the Nat Geo map is what you need for hiking, biking, etc.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Ideal MapBy Charles G WimerThis map is just what I want for exploring the San Rafael Swell, Utah area. All important points/services for visitors are clearly shown, as is the designated quality level of all the roads, distances from one point to the next. Topographical features seem well depicted throughout. Useful brief summaries of the area's highlights. The weather-proof, durable, foldable qualities are invaluable. Matches the overall quality of the 2 other Nat. Geo. topographical maps I've bought previously to navigate roads on trips out west.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Great map!By WendellI love the trails illustrated maps. They don't have the detail of a usgs topo. But they have plenty of detail for me. Trailheads, trails, 4wd roads, campgrounds, everything I need.
