Ross M Bodle : Sea Gypsies Down Under before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Sea Gypsies Down Under:

A collection of taped interviews with cruising folk who willingly shared their own personal experiences. Some told of frightful events while others had wonderful relaxed voyages. There is a mine of valuable information about storms, pirates, shootings, shipwrecks, man-overboard, diving experiences and shark attacks, plus other helpful advice for those who want to go cruising offshore.

About the AuthorIve been involved with boating most of my life and got the sailing bug the hard way, like most Kiwi kids, by crewing for the local Gisborne Yacht Club on the east coast of the North Island. Back in the 1960s sailing dinghies were hard to come by so I built my own, from then onwards Ive progressed and learnt the art of sailing and all that it involves. After my college years in Gisborne I gained boat building experience in the old school of boat construction in the traditional style of building wooden vessels. Since then Ive worked for professionals in New Zealand and overseas as boat building and design work has led to greater things, such as Peterborough canoes, the North American Indian-style craft named after the city where it was designed, also repairs to Dragon boats and Laser sailing dinghies for a firm called Patagonia Yachts in River Street, Toronto, Ontario. After returning to New Zealand, my work involved larger vessels such as the Spirit of New Zealand and my last commission was Mari Cha III for Sensation Yachts near Henderson in West Auckland.
