2 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Entertaining but short By Dan This is an entertaining collection of desert ghosts, buried ships, bigfoots and even a few UFOs. But at 1,568 Kindle locations, it's about half the size of other Kindle books I pay almost ten bucks for. If this had cost me $4.95, I would have given it 5 stars. See if your library has it. Fun read.

"Wow!" What a road trip this book turned out to be. Full of the mysterious and awesum Death Valley and the Mojave attract flying saucers and paranormal phenomenon like hardly any other place I can think of." --Tim Swartz - UFO This has to be one of the most magical looks at one of the most mystical places in North America. So many strange things have happened here that the Mojave has gotten a reputation for the place to go should an individual wish an authentic UFO or spiritual experience. . . .As early as the late 1940s disc shaped craft were being seen by credible witnesses, some with telescopes or binoculars at the ready. Photos were taken. There were those who claim they met the space people. And some like George Van Tassel professed to have been go for a ride onboard a flying saucer. . .In fact, Van Tassel's messages from alien beings are included in a part of the book, making this even a more important collectors edition. --Global ReportsAbout the AuthorReaders will be taken on a delightful "Easy Rider"-like journey through one of the strangest and most magical places in America. . . In addition to the fascinating tales told my author Beckley and his marry pack of journeymen (and women), you will read a rare reprint of a 1950s classic UFO book that is included as part of the many pages of this volume. George Van Tassel's I RODE IN A FLYING SAUCER is a supposed true account of a meeting on the desert near the famous landmark known as Giant Rock. He was told to build a "Time Machine" which still stands in the desert in the town of Landers to this day as a tribute to the time when space beings openly landed in the Mojave Desert.
