By Allan R
It's an OK map, if you want a general overview of the Sierra. However, it's one of the only maps I've found that actually covers the entire Sierra, so that's a plus. The map is made of paper, so it's not a weatherproof trail map to take with you when you are hiking/backpacking. It also is rather large, even when folded, so again, not made for easy packing. Also, since the map covers a very large area, the detail is lacking in many areas, simply because it is not possible to add in every trail, lake, mountain, etc. And there are no distances shown on trails. So, I would not recommend this map for actual trail use, it's more of an overview of the entire region, with a few key mountains, lakes, towns, etc. shown. I bought this to hang on a wall, and put pins on mountains I've climbed. More of a showpiece for myself and friends to see where I've been. It is not at all a "technical" map to navigate the wilderness, although it is perfectly fine for road travel.

By Cole Tindell
Excellent map to work out all your backpacking trips in the Sierras while at home. Find new hikes in same areas and plan them out. AWESOME!!

Folded topographic map in color. Scale 1:500,000. On this map you will find Yosemite, Sequoia and Kings Canyon National Parks, Mount Whitney, Lake Tahoe, Gold Country, San Joaquin Valley, Owens Valley, Mammoth Lakes, Donner Pass, John
