before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Travel with Billy Graham: In the Footsteps of Gods Ambassador (Day One Travel Guides):

To say 'meet Billy Graham' seems almost unnecessary. Few people, either in Britain, America, or throughout the rest of the world, are so widely known. Since the 1940s, Dr. Graham has preached to nearly 215 million people. Over 185 countries and territories have borne witness to his faithful stewardship of the Great Commission. He has been a valued friend to presidents, and leaders of every other description. In December 2001 he was knighted for his international contribution to civic and religious life. The world had truly become his parish. But it was not always so. Raised on a farm in North Carolina amidst the hardships of the Great Depression, few would have predicted the future for Graham that followed. Read this engaging and fascinating account of his life and ministry!

About the Author Kevin Belmonte is an award-winning author/historian who lives in the seaside village of York, Maine. He has served as a script consultant for the BBC and PBS, and for his life of William Wilberforce, A Hero for Humanity , he received the prestigious John Pollock Award for Christian Biography. For six years, he served as the lead historical consultant for the motion picture Amazing Grace. On several occasions, he has given lectures for members of America's national legislature. To mark the release of his Day One travel guide profiling Wilberforce, he was invited to speak at the Houses of Parliament in London, where he was introduced by the distinguished author and statesman, William Hague. Mr. Belmonte and his wife of eighteen years, Kelly, are the proud parents of a son, Samuel.
