J. J. Lankes : Virginia Woodcuts before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Virginia Woodcuts:

J.J. Lankes was a well-known wood-cut artist. Lankes had a love-hate relationship with the American South. In 1930, Lankes and his Hilton Village neighbor Eager Wood of the Virginia Press, collaborated on "Virginia Woodcuts," a folio-sized, limited edition volume of 24 prints of rural Virginia scenes. There were 1200 copies printed.
